

Flossbach von Storch - Dividend - R

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

Flossbach von Storch - Dividend is a globally diversified equity fund with an active investment approach. The focus is on first-class companies with an attractive dividend profile. What is important here is not only the dividend yield, but above all dividend security and dividend growth potential. When selecting individual securities, the fund management relies on in-house valuation models as well as ESG questions, engagement, and voting. In addition, exclusion criteria defined within the framework of the Sub-Fund's investment policy are taken into account. At least 80 per cent of the Fund's assets are invested directly in equities. In addition, the Fund may invest in share certificates and share index certificates as well as bonds, time deposits and target funds.

The Sub-Fund is actively managed and not benchmarked against an index. The portfolio is composed by the fund manager exclusively in accordance with the criteria defined in the investment policy, reviewed regularly and adjusted if necessary. The sub-fund is categorized as an Article 8 product within the meaning of the Disclosure Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 (SFDR).

For detailed information on the objectives and investment policy, please refer to the most recent sales prospectus and the Key Information Document (PRIIP-KID).

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

Uncertainty surrounding the impact of the war in Iran weighed on international financial markets in March. Rising energy prices could slow global growth over time, while also pushing inflation higher. The MSCI World global equity index fell by 4.1% over the month (calculated in euros). From the perspective of a European investor, the US dollar's appreciation against the euro by around 2.2% provided some relief. The flight to the dollar as a "safe haven" was consistent with many historical crisis periods. Similarly, given the sharp rise in oil and gas prices, it came as little surprise that the energy sector recorded the strongest performance in the MSCI World Index in March. However, the capital markets also exhibited some unusual patterns: for instance, the price of gold fell significantly more than equities, and historically defensive sectors, such as consumer staples and health care, also fell by more than average. Although the energy crisis could cause isolated headwinds in these sectors, technical factors appear to have played a greater role in price movements. At an individual stock level, the largest positive contributions to value came from our holdings in the financial services provider Deutsche Börse, US energy group ConocoPhillips and German chemicals producer BASF. The largest negative contributions to value came from our holdings in two British consumer goods manufacturers Unilever and Reckitt, as well as German enterprise software provider SAP.

OPPORTUNITIES

- + These funds aim to exploit growth opportunities on global equity markets.
- + Investing in assets denominated in a foreign currency can have a positive impact on unit values as a result of exchange rate movements.
- + Derivatives can be used to increase potential yields.
- + Potential to achieve above-average dividend income.

RISKS

- Equity markets and thus also unit values can experience severe fluctuations in response to market developments. The result can be a fall in the trading price. ESG criteria can restrict the selection of target investments in terms of category and number, sometimes considerably.
- Investing in assets denominated in a foreign currency can have a negative impact on unit values as a result of exchange rate movements.
- Where used, derivatives can have a greater negative impact on the fund value than would be the case if the assets were acquired directly. This can affect the fund's risk profile and volatility (tendency for the price to fluctuate).
- If dividends are reduced or not paid out at all, this can have a negative impact on investment returns.
- By hedging currency risks, the fund share value may be adversely affected.

Please read the Prospectus and particularly the RISK WARNINGS section and the specific annex of the subfund to understand the risks and benefits of this product.
