MONTHLY COMMENTARY

After a pronounced rally in previous months, the global bond markets experienced a correction in October, with a marked divergence on both sides of the Atlantic. While yields on two- and 10-year U.S. Treasury bonds rose by around 50 basis points (bps), German Bunds with the same maturities were up nearly 25 bps month-on-month. The sharper increase in U.S. yields was triggered by the strong (and better-than-expected) jobs report at the start of the month. Later in October, the "Trump momentum" in polls ahead of the U.S. election on November 5 raised concerns about a potential increase in U.S. Treasury issuance. Neither presidential candidate is expected to pursue fiscal consolidation, but Donald Trump's platform, in particular, is likely to exacerbate existing fiscal challenges. In this environment, euro-denominated bonds held up better, though they could not entirely escape the significant upward pressure on yields from the U.S. A. Supportive factors included comments from some members of the European Central Bank (ECB), who pointed out that disinflation is progressing faster than expected while growth risks are increasing. Against this backdrop, we have gradually increased portfolio duration in the euro bond market during periods of weakness, primarily through eurozone government bonds. Additionally, we took advantage of the recent rise in real yields on euro-denominated inflation-linked bonds to establish an initial position.

Team Fixed Income

Flossbach von Storch - Bond Defensive - R

OPPORTUNITIES

- + Participate in global bond market growth.
- + Income can be generated from regular interest payments.
- + Active interest rate, currency and risk management (e.g. from the use of derivatives).
- + Risk is broadly diversified by investing in a range of asset classes (e.g. equities, bonds, convertible bonds etc.) Market potential can be exploited by investing across a wide range.

RISKS

- The securities in which the Management Company invests the sub-fund assets present opportunities for gain but also the possibility of risk. ESG criteria can restrict the selection of target investments in terms of category and number, sometimes considerably. If a sub-fund invests directly or indirectly in securities and other assets, it is subject to many general trends and tendencies, which are sometimes attributable to irrational factors on the markets particularly on the securities markets. Losses can occur when the market value of the assets decreases as against the cost price. If a unitholder sells units of the sub-fund at a time at which the value of assets in the sub-fund has decreased compared with the time of the unit purchase, he will not receive the full amount he has invested in the sub-fund. Despite the fact that each sub-fund aspires constant growth, this cannot be guaranteed.
- Country, credit and issuer liquidity risk. Also potential exchange rate risks. If securities are illiquid (i.e. thinly traded), there is a risk that it may either not be possible to sell the assets at all or only by accepting a significant discount on the sale price.
- Investing in bonds may entail price risks, especially in case of rising interest rates on the capital markets.
- Where used, derivatives can have a greater negative impact on the fund value than would be the case if the assets were acquired directly. This can affect the fund's risk profile and volatility (tendency for the price to fluctuate).

Please read the Prospectus and particularly the RISK WARNINGS section and the specific annex of the subfund to understand the risks and benefits of this product.

INVESTOR PROFILE

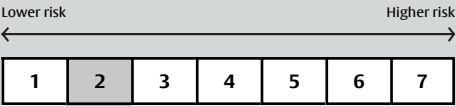

CONSERVATIVE:

The fund is appropriate for conservative investors. Due to the composition of the net sub-fund assets, there is a moderate degree of risk but also a moderate degree of profit potential. The risks may consist in particular of currency risk, credit risk and price risk, as well as market interest rate risks.

INVESTMENT HORIZON:

Medium-term: 3 to 5 years

RISK INDICATOR

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 3 years. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less. The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 2 out of 7, which is a low risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a low level, and poor market conditions are very unlikely to impact our capacity to pay you.
