INVESTMENT STRATEGY

Flossbach von Storch - Bond Defensive is a globally diversified bond fund. The objective of the Fund Management is to generate the most stable possible returns for investors over time. The focus of the Fund is on government bonds, covered bonds, and investment-grade corporate bonds. The Fund flexibly takes advantage of the opportunities in the entire bond market; this distinguishes it from pure corporate bond or government bond funds. Foreign currency risks are largely hedged. Securities are selected within the framework of a fundamental analysis process. The Fund Management relies on research instruments and valuation models developed in-house. The Sub-Fund is actively managed and not benchmarked against an index. The portfolio is composed by the fund manager exclusively in accordance with the criteria defined in the investment policy, reviewed regularly and adjusted if necessary. The Sub-Fund is categorized as an Article 8 product within the meaning of the Disclosure Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 (SFDR). For detailed information on the objectives and investment policy, please refer to the most recent sales prospectus and the Key Information Document (PRIIP-KID).

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

US Treasuries continued to outperform their euro counterparts in February. Although solid US inflation data caused a setback on the bond market in the first half of the month, disappointing US retail sales then led to a change in sentiment. The recovery rally was further strengthened by a noticeably weak US Purchasing Managers' Index (Services PMI) for the first time in a long time and an environment of weakening US equity markets. The yield on five-year US Treasuries fell by around 31 basis points (bps) over the month. On the other side of the Atlantic, German Bunds came under pressure in the run-up to the German Bundestag election, with speculation about a significant increase in issuance volumes and a loosening of the debt brake, particularly to finance significantly increased (planned) defence spending, weighing on the market. In addition, the persistently high issuing activity for long euro maturities slowed the rally led by the US bond market. The yield on five-year German Bunds was around 8 bps lower compared to the previous month. In terms of risk premiums, French government bonds and European covered bonds in particular continued to narrow the gap to German Bunds (around 5 to 6 bps in the 10-year maturity range). There were no major movements in traditional spread products. In the portfolio, we utilised the volatility on the market as part of our active management. At the start of the month, we quickly reduced the previously significantly increased duration of 2.6 years to around 2.0 years, primarily via euro bonds. We used the subsequent rise in yields to buy medium-term maturities of nominal and inflation-indexed euro government bonds, thereby moderately increasing the duration again to 2.3 years. During the renewed rally at the end of the month, we again took profits and reduced the duration to 1.9 years on the last day of the month (after the booking cut-off).

Flossbach von Storch - Bond Defensive - R

OPPORTUNITIES

- + Participate in global bond market growth.
- + Income can be generated from regular interest payments.
- + Active interest rate, currency and risk management (e.g. from the use of derivatives).

RISKS

- The securities in which the Management Company invests the sub-fund assets present opportunities for gain but also the possibility of risk. ESG criteria can restrict the selection of target investments in terms of category and number, sometimes considerably. If a sub-fund invests directly or indirectly in securities and other assets, it is subject to many general trends and tendencies, which are sometimes attributable to irrational factors on the markets particularly on the securities markets. Losses can occur when the market value of the assets decreases as against the cost price. If a unitholder sells units of the sub-fund at a time at which the value of assets in the sub-fund has decreased compared with the time of the unit purchase, he will not receive the full amount he has invested in the sub-fund. Despite the fact that each sub-fund aspires constant growth, this cannot be guaranteed.
- Country, credit and issuer liquidity risk. Also potential exchange rate risks. If securities are illiquid (i.e. thinly traded), there is a risk that it may either not be possible to sell the assets at all or only by accepting a significant discount on the sale price.
- Investing in bonds may entail price risks, especially in case of rising interest rates on the capital markets.
- Where used, derivatives can have a greater negative impact on the fund value than would be the case if the assets were acquired directly. This can affect the fund's risk profile and volatility (tendency for the price to fluctuate).

Please read the Prospectus and particularly the RISK WARNINGS section and the specific annex of the subfund to understand the risks and benefits of this product.

INVESTOR PROFILE

CONSERVATIVE:

The fund is appropriate for conservative investors. Due to the composition of the net sub-fund assets, there is a moderate degree of risk but also a moderate degree of profit potential. The risks may consist in particular of currency risk, credit risk and price risk, as well as market interest rate risks.

INVESTMENT HORIZON:

Medium-term: 3 to 5 years

RISK INDICATOR

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 3 years. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less. The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 2 out of 7, which is a low risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a low level, and poor market conditions are very unlikely to impact our capacity to pay you.
